Responsible Staff Member: Naomi Haysum and Sukhera Furness
 EIA Assessor/s: Maternity Guidelines Group
 Directorate: Specialist Services-Maternity Service Line

1. FIELD / SUBJECT

Function Policy Procedure / practice Service Strategy Document (if joint, state with whom)

Describe the main aim, objectives and intended outcomes of the above:

To provide information on specific indications of caesarean section, classification of urgency, the roles and responsibilities of staff, the risks and benefits, anaesthetic and surgical aspects of care and interventions to reduce complications of both elective and emergency procedures. To ensure quality of care and a positive birth experience for women having caesarean section.

Safe delivery of the women and or baby

To ensure all trained staff understand the classification of all caesarean sections and the requirement to communicate and involve the woman in the decision making process

Where a woman requires an urgent or emergency Caesarean Section the staff involve the consultant obstetrician in the decision making process

Safe and timely discharge after an uncomplicated caesarean section

All trained staff are aware of the need to communicate and document the management plan

An initial screening should be undertaken first. This helps to identify whether there is a possibility that people might have different experiences of the function/ policy / process/ strategy compared to others.

This initial EIA simply assesses whether different groups of people who use a service are affected by the intended function / policy/ practice / strategy more, less or in a different way than other groups of people. A differential impact occurs when a particular group has been affected differently by this in either a positive or negative/adverse way.

An assessment of whether there is a differential impact will be based on two factors – quantitative monitoring data and qualitative information, including the expert opinion from the EIA assessor who is normally the manager responsible for the delivery as well as someone with a different perspective. This would ideally be one or more service users or someone related to the service. There will be times when involving someone for their technical expertise or someone with specialist knowledge will be appropriate and EIA assessors should consider this. You must assess each of the 9 areas separately and consider how your document in section 1 may affect people's human rights.
